This leaflet is intended to help you understand more about the integrated community specialist palliative care team (ICSPCT). The team includes members from Leicestershire Partnership NHS Trust (LPT) and LOROS and we work closely with all services in the wider community who may be involved in caring for a palliative patient.

Our co-ordination hub is staffed by a nurse specialist from 8am - 6pm, 7 days a week. You can ring for advice during these hours. The hub can be very busy and calls are triaged and prioritised accordingly.

Please be aware that if you have new health concerns which may be unrelated to your palliative diagnosis, you will be guided to contact your GP/111 for urgent advice.

Please do not contact the co-ordination hub for prescription requests - contact your GP/pharmacy.

A range of services are available, each offering support specific to your needs. Currently there are no Macmillan nurses within Leicester, Leicestershire and Rutland - so we offer similar services to those provided by Macmillan nurses elsewhere in the UK. Macmillan do provide support nationally via their website and advice line (details on page 6 of this leaflet).

If there is anything you are unclear about, please ask your nurse.

What is palliative care?

Palliative care describes the physical, psychological and social care and support given to people who have an illness or disease that cannot be cured.

Who provides palliative care in the community?

Your GP, community nursing team and/or other members of health and social care teams will care for you during your illness.

Our main aim is to provide a holistic assessment (assessing you as a whole person) of what support you may need. We will assess what physical and emotional support you may need from all services, from advice on your symptoms to practical nursing care. Sometimes you may require more specialist help during your illness.

What is specialist palliative care?

It is the care provided to individuals when usual treatments are not effective or other services cannot manage the support required at the time.

Reasons for referral to the team may include:

- the assessment and management of any complex symptoms you may have
- to help and support you with any complex emotional, psychological and spiritual issues
- to give you information about your treatment and any care that you may need
- to help facilitate end of life care at home – liaising and coordinating with other community services
- to facilitate rapid discharge from hospital for those in the last days of life who want to die at home.

Who we are

The ICSPCT is comprised of nurse specialists and healthcare assistants that are specially trained to deliver palliative care in people's own homes. We are also supported by two community consultants who work for LOROS.

ICSPCT review and care for complex symptoms. We share our specialist knowledge and skills and act as a resource to the community teams, including GPs and other services.

We work closely in partnership with other health professionals as part of the co-ordinated community healthcare service within Leicester, Leicestershire and Rutland.

Regular visits from ICSPCT may not be needed when your symptoms have been resolved. You may be discharged back into the care of your GP or a key worker who can support you. You will be able to re-refer yourself to the service.

During your illness, you may meet different types of professionals, one of whom may become your key worker. This could include:

- Community nursing team, for example the district nurse who is part of your local community nursing service that provides general nursing care and will support you with palliative/end of care in your home setting
- your GP
- hospital consultant and team
- physiotherapist/occupational therapist
- dietician
- speech and language therapy (communication and swallowing)
- social services
- voluntary services

You may also meet some of the following teams:

- Marie Curie nurses - funded by the cancer charity. They can be requested by a community nurse if appropriate and can stay in your home for several hours, including overnight (10pm - 7am) if needed.
- Cancer site specific nurses - have specific expertise in a particular illness, for example, lung cancer or breast cancer. They are all based in hospital.

- Complex care or long-term condition nurses - a team of highly skilled nurses who co-ordinate care and services for people with complex needs due to long-term conditions such as respiratory disease, heart disease and diabetes.
- LOROS hospice - provides free care and support to terminally ill patients and their families in Leicester, Leicestershire and Rutland. Visit their website: www.loros.co.uk
Services at the hospice include:
  - inpatient unit
  - day therapy service
  - outpatients clinics
  - lymphoedema service
  - palliative care doctor domiciliary visits
  - volunteer visiting
  - counselling and bereavement care and
  - complementary therapies.
